

Soehartati Gondhowiardjo

Radiation Oncologist and Senior Consultant, Department of Radiotherapy, Cipto Mangunkusumo National General Hospital (RSCM), Jakarta, Indonesia

Professor Soehartati Gondhowiardjo is a full time Professor and radiation oncologist at Cipto Mangunkusumo General Hospital Jakarta (RSCM), Indonesia. Currently, she is the President of the Indonesian Radiation Oncology Society (IROS). She received an Honorary Member Award for her contribution to the field of radiation oncology in ESTRO 37, Barcelona. Prof Soehartati became a radiologist in 1987 and studied radiation oncology at Universitaet Muenster, Germany, in 1988. She received her PhD on EBV and cell proliferation activity of nasopharyngeal as predictive factors of nasopharyngeal cancer radiation responses and a Professor at the University of Indonesia.

Prof Soehartati is actively participating in several organizations of oncology professionals. She is the Past President of several organizations: the Federation of Asia Organization for Radiation Oncology (FARO), South East Asian Radiation Oncology Group (SEAROG); and Indonesian Society for Oncology (ISO). In addition, she is a Council Member of the Asian Clinical Oncology Society (ACOS), the European Society for Radiotherapy and Oncology (ESTRO), Pediatric Radiation Oncology Society (PROS) and is National Project Coordinator for various IAEA projects and research studies.

Nationwide, she has taken the lead in improving cancer control in Indonesia, appointed as the Chairperson of National Cancer Control Committee (NCCC) from 2014 to 2019, and currently serves as the national focal points for various cancer control initiatives, including in contract or collaborations with the WHO.